

A Country Road, November

Primary Maker

James Charles

Medium

Oil on canvas

Dimensions

42.3 x 55.2 cm

Description

This is a landscape painting of a country road during the month of November. The road stretches from the foreground into the middle distance in a curve and then it continues in a straight line into the background. There is a ditch filled with water in the right foreground and the road is lined with a few bare trees. The entire composition is executed in tones of brown with some spots of green.